BRIAN CHERUIYOT · AI CREATOR & EDUCATOR

PERSONAL PLANNING WORKSHEET

Simple Budgeting Workbook

A neutral workbook for organizing monthly income, planned spending, savings intentions, and end-of-month reflections.

How to use this resource: Choose one idea, adapt it to your needs, and review results carefully. AI tools can make mistakes; check important information and protect private details.

A note before you begin

- This worksheet is for personal organization only; it is not financial, tax, credit, or investment advice.
- Use take-home figures appropriate to your own situation. Amounts and categories vary.
- Keep account numbers and sensitive financial records private; do not paste them into public AI tools.

Monthly overview

- Month: _____ Currency: _____
- Expected take-home income: _____
- Other dependable income: _____
- Savings intention (if appropriate): _____
- Known one-time costs this month: _____

Planned spending

- Housing and utilities: _____ Planned: _____
- Food and household: _____ Planned: _____
- Transport: _____ Planned: _____
- Health and care: _____ Planned: _____
- Education and work: _____ Planned: _____
- Subscriptions and services: _____ Planned: _____
- Other / irregular costs: _____ Planned: _____
- Estimated total planned outflow: _____

Weekly check-in

- What did I expect to spend? _____
- What actually happened? _____
- Which cost was unexpected? _____
- What change would make next week easier? _____
- A plan is an estimate, not a moral score. Adjust it when circumstances change.

Month-end reflection

- Which information helped me plan?
- What category needs a better estimate next month?
- Is there a bill or irregular cost I should note for next time?
- What is one practical step I choose for the next month?
- Store this workbook somewhere private and review it at your own pace.

Educational resource prepared for personal learning. Adapt the worksheets to your own needs. AI output is not a substitute for professional advice in legal, medical, financial, or other high-stakes situations.